I just spoke with Diane Blackmore. I have received an email from Susan Walsh about the review which will be including her office of Senior's Advocate.

I have met her once at an information session held in Grand Falls-Windsor last year. It was at the Exploits Valley 50+ Club. She gave a very informative presentation. She came across as completely committed to Seniors. I have received documentation from her on the many topics which were discussed at that meeting. She was very receptive to the concerns put forth by those present. It is only today that I received another update about Hearing Aids for those unable to purchase on their own. Her office is very vital and certainly needs to be heard from and kept viable. I have also seen her on the News at different times expressing her concerns about seniors issues -- health issues being once of her many vital watch-points..

A very committed, respective, knowledge person.
